GENERAL INFORMATION

Intended Audience

This course is designed for primary care physicians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, and other health care providers.

Purpose

Providers will gain a more thorough understanding of endotypes of sinonasal disease, the microbiology contribution to sinonasal disease, and when to apply newer biologic therapies in the treatment of sinonasal disease.

Educational Objectives

Upon completion of this course the learner should be able to:

- Recognize the contribution of the microbiome to allergic rhinitis.
- Describe endotypes of sinusitis.
- Identify autoimmune conditions associated with sinonasal disease.
- Employ new options in the treatment of chronic rhinosinusitis with nasal polyps.
- Discuss when to use sinus irrigation and nasal spray.
- Analyze sinonasal radiographs for anatomic pathology.
- Describe histopathologic findings in sinusitis.
- Discuss complex sinonasal diseases using a case-based format.
- Summarize the endotypes and treatment of sinonasal disease.

Registration Fees

The fee is $190 for physicians, $125 for nurses and physician assistants, $100 for other health care professionals, and $50 for students/residents. All fees include registration, instruction and educational materials, CME and CEU recording, parking, continental breakfast, refreshment breaks and lunch.

Space is limited. We encourage early registration to enable us to provide the best possible service to participants.

A $25 fee will be charged for canceled registrations.

Detailed Conference Location & Parking

Ramp 3/UIHC: Park in Ramp 3, take the elevator or stairs to level 3. Follow the skywalk away from UIHC and head down the stairs/escalators. Exit the doors and walk around to Gate F. Registration will be located inside the door.
